

National Debate on Resilience in the Water Sector

Wednesday 22 May 2024

Claire Walsh
Newcastle University

Claire Walsh is Professor of Water Security in the School of Engineering at Newcastle University, where she is the Director of Civil and Geospatial Engineering.

She is also the Director of Newcastle University's Centre of Research Excellence in Water, Co-Director of the National Green Infrastructure Facility and Research Director of the Water Security and Sustainable Development Hub.

Her research takes an interdisciplinary approach to tackle water security; to understand and quantify integrated water risks, design and evaluate resilient interventions, while maintaining sensitive approaches to place-specific environments, communities and infrastructure.