

Safeguarding Policy

Policy Statement

The University is committed to protecting and safeguarding the welfare of children, young people and adults at risk and safeguard those vulnerable to being drawn into extremism, in line with its legal obligations. These obligations extend to all who access our services, grounds or facilities and participate in our activities, to include staff, students, contractors and volunteers/visitors, as well as individuals who engage with the University through research and innovation activities. This is regardless of whether they take part in-situ or virtually through online communication systems.

The University acknowledges in particular its responsibility to safeguard children under the age of 18 and adults at risk at any time when they are engaging in University-run activities regardless of location, both in the UK and internationally, to ensure they are protected from abuse.

For the purpose of this policy, a child is defined as a person under the age of 18. This policy considers an adult at risk to be someone aged 18 years or over; who may be in need of community care services by reason of mental or other disability, age or illness; and who is or may be unable to take care of him or herself, or unable to protect him or herself against significant harm or exploitation.

Safeguarding is everyone's responsibility, and all individuals play a role in preventing, reporting and responding to allegations of exploitation, abuse or harm, in particular those staff who teach, support, guide or in any way interact with students. It is incumbent on all staff to be aware of their responsibilities and act accordingly at all times.

When children of staff, students or visitors are present on the University campus, they remain the responsibility of their parent/carer, unless engaged in official activities.

Appropriate safeguarding awareness training is available for all to ensure that there is awareness of their safeguarding responsibility. Staff and students who engage with children or adults at risk as part of their day to day role, including through research and innovation must complete mandatory training and refresher training.

The University has various relevant policies and guidance pages that ensure the appropriate arrangements are in place to enable the University to provide a safe and secure environment to prevent abuse, and to respond appropriately to suspected or reported abuse of under-18s or adults at risk. In addition to this policy, some of the relevant policies and guidance pages that support the University's commitment to safeguarding are:

Responsibilities of those working closely with Children and/or Adults at Risk

All staff required to work with children, young people or adults at risk should ensure that they understand the implications of this policy before commencing any programme, event, visit or other activity.

The University will ensure that where an individual is required by the University to work directly with children under the age of 18 and/or adults at risk on a regular, unsupervised basis, (which might include regular processing of information) shall be subject to satisfactory checking of relevant criminal convictions undertaken by the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS), subject to their role falling within the eligibility criteria. DBS checks are undertaken by a third-party supplier.

The University will take all appropriate steps during the recruitment and selection process to ensure that unsuitable people are prevented from working with children, young people and adults at risk. Where a role requires an individual to undergo a DBS check, this will be highlighted during the recruitment process and the check undertaken as required, prior to engagement or where this is not feasible, during the induction period (in such circumstances, the individual will be supervised/highly restricted in terms of activities they are able to undertake in relation to children, young people and adults at risk).

Before any new or changed programme, event, visit or any other activity involving children, young people or adults at risk, or before employing an under-18, a risk assessment should be completed. Where a risk assessment has identified that individuals are likely to have regular contact with or encounter children, young people or adults at risk (which might include regular processing of information), appropriate checks into their eligibility will be required. Such processes will be compliant with the University's Equality and Diversity policy. Should a risk assessment identify that a DBS check is required, the local HR team must be contacted in the first instance to instigate the appropriate check.

Any individual working closely (e.g. in a line management or supervisory position) with children and/or adults at risk will be asked to complete the online Safeguarding training module ideally prior to the commencement of the work in question. They will also be responsible for ensuring that an appropriate risk assessment is in place.

The University has a legal duty to refer an individual to the DBS if they have been removed from working in regulated activity with children and/or adults because they caused harm to children/adults or posed a risk of causing harm. The duty to refer is absolute and overrides any concerns about data protection.

In implementing this Policy and in appropriate circumstances, the University will engage proactively with statutory local authority boards and organisations, including the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) and, when necessary and appropriate to do so, follow their published guidelines, policies and procedures.

Work experience and apprenticeship placements for those who are under 18

The University, in accordance with guidance from the Health and Safety Executive, aims to safeguard children throughout the duration of their work experience/placement at the University. Although the placement may not meet the definition of regulated activity (as set out in Safeguarding Vulnerable Groups Act 2006), the University has a duty of care to safeguard those on work placement whilst they are participating in a University-related activity.

Those working at the University are in a position of trust. In accordance with the Sexual Offences Act 2003, it is a criminal offence for any adult who is in a position of trust to engage in, incite, or promote sexual activity with a child or young person, even if the relationship is consensual. This includes young people who are aged 16 or 17.

The University provides services and activities for, and engages in academic research with, children and young people through initiatives such as outreach activities. Those who participate in any activity with a child or young person on behalf of the University, regardless of whether they are on or off campus, are in a position of trust. They must uphold this Policy and where relevant, ensure that they are familiar with the safeguarding policy and procedures of participating schools or educational partners.

Prevention of harm in research and innovation

In May 2020, UKRI published its policy on Preventing harm \(safeguarding\) in research and innovation. The policy applies to all research funded by UKRI regardless of whether it takes place in the UK or overseas. UKRI believes that everyone has a right to be treated fairly and with dignity and respect. UKRI promotes safe research environments which are free from “sexual exploitation, abuse and harassment, bullying, psychological abuse and physical violence” for all individuals that are employed on, participate in or otherwise come into contact with the research and innovation activities they fund.

When undertaking research and innovation, the following considerations should be considered in the context of safeguarding:

- The ethical conduct of research to ensure that no harm comes to research participants or communities as a result of their involvement in a research project. All staff and students undertaking research as part of their studies or under contract must seek ethical approval prior to data collection.
- The health and safety of researchers and associated personnel involved in research projects, in particular when undertaking field work in developing countries or in challenging contexts.
- The conduct of researchers, associated personnel or visitors involved in research projects towards research participants, the broader community with whom they engage while conducting field studies and/or other members of the research team.
- Adhere to safeguarding legislation, in particular child protection legislation and the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

Many of our funding bodies set out expectations for individuals and organisations involved in funded research, these include:

- Being aware of relevant policies and procedures and knowing how to respond to and report concerns through the appropriate channels in the organisation;
- Protecting the rights of all individuals involved;
- Informing the funding body if there is a safeguarding breach relating to a funded project;
- Informing the funding body if an allegation is upheld;
- Concluding investigations, even if the subject of the investigation resigns during the process.

Sanctions may be made against an individual or organisation if either have failed to comply with the funding bodies Safeguarding Policy. Sanctions that may be applied include:

- Restricting applications for specific grant types e.g. doctoral training programmes, overseas based research;
- Not accepting any new grant applications for a limited period of time;
- Suspending grants for a limited period of time.

Photography, Social Media and Audio and Video technologies

Thought should be given to the duty of care when publishing photographs, video images, comments and personal data on the web, including on all social media sites.

In accordance with the Data Protection Act 2018, photographs, audio and video are personal data and should be treated accordingly. Where photographs/recordings are taken, participants should be informed of their rights and made aware when recording is taking place. In certain circumstances, individuals may opt out before a recording takes place.

Where photography or recording is not directed at any one individual, consideration should be given to safeguarding and treated with the same care as that of any one person.

Considerations relating to safeguarding are as applicable to processing data for social media as they are to any other form of interaction between those who are in a position of trust, and those within their care, or who are deemed vulnerable.

Reporting an Incident/Disclosure/Concern relating to the safeguarding of children or adults at risk

The University has in place a Safeguarding Lead (SL) and three Deputy Safeguarding Leads who are responsible for coordinating the response to safeguarding concerns within the University.

All staff have a responsibility to respond if a safeguarding disclosure, allegation and/or cause for concern has been brought to their attention. In the first instance, the matter should be raised as soon as possible with either their line manager, local HR Team and/or the Deputy Safeguarding Lead(s). A form for reporting such concerns (safeguarding incident reporting form) can be found at Appendix 2.

Information on how to contact these nominated individuals is published below.

Where an allegation, disclosure or cause for concern is raised, the Safeguarding Lead/Deputy Safeguarding Lead initiates the University's safeguarding procedures in accordance with a process agreed and reviewed by the Safeguarding Standing Group. Appendix 1 provides an overview of the escalation process, including where cases may be referred to external agencies.
