

Home sweet home?

The dark side of repatriating to your home country after working abroad

Mariana de Oliveira Barros

Managing Partner, Differãnce Intercultural Consultants

Mariana Barros is an interculturalist with an MA in International Relations from the Program San Tiago Dantas (PUC/SP, UNESP, and UNICAMP) and has a Bachelor degree in International Relations from PUC/SP. Mariana lived, worked, and/or studied in France (1997-1998), in the US (2001), in Equatorial Guinea (2009) and in Thailand (2016).

Founder of Differãnce Intercultural, she was also a founding member and president of SIETAR Brazil and has 20 years of experience in intercultural communication and assistance to expatriates. Since 2013 she has managed intercultural trainings for immigrants and refugees that arrive in Brazil, a project that SIETAR Brazil hosts in partnership with MISSÃO PAZ. Until 2019, more than 15,000 people benefited from the training.

In 2017, she was a speaker at the TEDx in São Paulo, "Women who inspire," and presented a talk titled: "Learning to deal with differences".