

MSc in Management Internship Projects

Cranfield University, Summer 2024

The Cranfield MSc in Management course, with Chartered Management Institute (CMI) dual accreditation degree is a full time 13-month programme which equips students with the knowledge and practical skills needed to tackle complex business challenges and to prepare them for demanding managerial roles in the future.

WHY?

Thesis projects provide high-quality research into areas that organisations may not have the time, resources or expertise to address independently.

- Customised and objective research that is aligned with your business goals
- Bright, motivated and dedicated students
- Leading academics in management as project supervisors
- Access to the latest research insights and practical approaches

WHEN?

Each year we seek projects from organisations for the highly talented young professionals studying the MSc in Management. Projects take place over a three month period between June - August.

In 2024, we will advertise projects to students on 16 February and 28 March.

WHAT?

During their work experience, students will produce management and reflective reports. Cranfield's academic team will support students with the academic elements of the projects to write their thesis.

Students will commit full-time hours to provide high-quality research into live business challenges. Internships can be paid / unpaid, and can be carried out remotely, on-site or with a hybrid approach.

HOW?
